RETAIL ENERGY SUPPLY ASSOCIATION WELCOMES ENERGY PLUS AS ITS NEWEST MEMBER

Harrisburg, PA (June 8, 2010) – The Retail Energy Supply Association (RESA), a leading trade association of retail energy suppliers committed to the advocacy of vibrant and sustainable competitive residential and commercial retail energy markets, today announced the addition of Energy Plus Holdings, LLC to the Association’s membership, increasing the Association’s total membership to a record 14 companies serving residential, business, government, and industrial customers across the United States.

“It is with great pleasure that I welcome Energy Plus as RESA’s newest member,” said Jay Kooper, President of RESA. “Over the past decade, competition has taken a firm grip nationwide in providing customers with value-added benefits and savings in their electric and gas purchasing decisions. Energy Plus has emerged as a leading, progressive company focused on providing these benefits particularly to residential homes and small businesses across the United States. RESA will benefit greatly from having their perspective and wise counsel. Our member companies look forward to working with our newest member now and into the years ahead.”

Energy Plus (www.energypluscompany.com) is an independent energy company that has been licensed by state public utility commissions in Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas to supply electricity to residential and business customers. Energy Plus is based in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

“We are thrilled to be accepted into an organization that is such a vibrant part of our industry,” said Joanna V. Hamrick, General Counsel, Energy Plus Holdings, LLC. “We look forward to working with the other RESA member companies to enhance competitive energy markets in the United States.”
