Attorney for Retail Energy Supply Association

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF THE MOTION TO INTERVENE OF THE RETAIL ENERGY SUPPLY ASSOCIATION¹

I. Introduction

Dayton Power and Light Company has sought to increase its distribution rates and to make other changes to its terms and conditions of service. Among issues of concern raised by the application, the applicant proposed rates that fail to account for a subsidy of the standard service offer that is embedded in distribution rates. DP&L also is seeking to recover through distribution rates energy efficiency programs which are competitive services offered by competitive retail electric service providers.² Because approval of these terms and conditions would adversely affect the interest of RESA members, its motion to intervene should be granted.

II. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has been directed to grant intervention liberally

R.C. 4903.221 provides for intervention in hearings before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (“Commission”) of any person who may be adversely affected by the outcome of the proceeding.³ In assessing a motion to intervene, the Commission is to consider

² The interests identified in this motion to intervene are not intended to be exhaustive, and RESA reserves the right to raise additional issues in its objections to the staff report and application at the appropriate time.

³ R.C. 4903.221 provides:

Any other person who may be adversely affected by a public utilities commission proceeding may intervene in such proceeding, provided:

(A) That such other person files a motion to intervene with the commission no later than:

the nature and extent of the moving party's interest, the legal position of the moving party and its relation to the merits of the case, whether the intervention of the moving party will unduly prolong or delay the proceedings, and whether the moving party will significantly contribute to the full development and equitable resolution of the factual issues. R.C. 4903.221(B).⁴ The Supreme Court of Ohio further directs the Commission to liberally grant intervention so that the positions of all persons with a real and substantial interest in the proceeding can be considered by the Commission. Consumers' Counsel v. Public Utils. Comm'n of Ohio, 111 Ohio St. 3d 384, 388 (2006).

III. Members of RESA are actively engaged in the competitive generation service market and the provision of renewable energy products and services

RESA is a non-profit 501(c)(6) organization headquartered in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

State-specific chapters exist in each jurisdiction that permits retail competition.

(1) Any specific deadline established by order of the commission for purposes of a particular proceeding; or, if no such deadline is established;

(2) Five days prior to the scheduled date of hearing. The public utilities commission may, in its discretion, grant motions to intervene which are filed after the deadlines set forth in divisions (A)(1) and (2) of this section for good cause shown.

(B) That the commission, in ruling upon applications to intervene in its proceedings, shall consider the following criteria:

(1) The nature and extent of the prospective intervenor's interest;

(2) The legal position advanced by the prospective intervenor and its probable relation to the merits of the case;

(3) Whether the intervention by the prospective intervenor will unduly prolong or delay the proceedings;

(4) Whether the prospective intervenor will significantly contribute to full development and equitable resolution of the factual issues.

⁴ Under its rules of procedure, the Commission has also directed that it will decide whether to allow intervention based on the nature and extent of the prospective intervenor's interest, the legal position advanced by the prospective intervenor and its probable relation to the merits of the case, whether the intervention by the prospective intervenor will unduly prolong or delay the proceeding, whether the prospective intervenor will significantly contribute to the full development and equitable resolution of the factual issues, and the extent to which the person's interest is represented by existing parties. Rule 4901-1-11(B), Ohio Administrative Code.

RESA's member companies supply retail electricity and natural gas to residential, commercial, industrial, and governmental customers throughout Ohio, including the service territory of DP&L. Members also provide energy efficiency-related services and products.

Since its inception, RESA is and has historically been active in many electric industry proceedings at the Commission in furtherance of its members' activities in Ohio. It also has participated in Commission proceedings to assure that electric distribution utilities comply with requirements of Ohio law that proscribe their ability to leverage their monopoly status in competitive markets.

IV. RESA should be granted intervention

As noted, DP&L is seeking to increase its distribution rates. As demonstrated in the last rate case, those distribution rates contain a subsidy for customers of the default service offer. Additionally, DP&L is seeking to recover through distribution rates energy efficiency programs which are competitive services that are also provided by RESA members. If authorized, these provisions of the application would adversely affect the interests of RESA members.

Based on the applicable requirements, RESA should be granted intervention.

Initially, RESA members have a direct interest in the outcome of this proceeding since they will adversely affected by the continued subsidy of the standard service offer and the attempt by DP&L to extend its reach into competitive energy efficiency products not required by current law.⁵

Additionally, RESA's motion to intervene is timely, and granting its intervention will not prolong or delay the proceeding.

⁵ Under R.C. 4928.17(A), an electric distribution utility's lawful opportunity to sell a competitive electric product or service or any non-electric product or service is not permitted except as is permitted under R.C. 4928.142 or 4928.143. See, also, In the Matter of the Application of Duke Energy Ohio, Inc. for Approval of its Fourth Amended Corporate Separation Plan, 148 Ohio St. 3d 510 (2016).

Moreover, the expertise of RESA and its members will contribute to the full development and equitable resolution of the factual issues presented by DP&L's application.

Although RESA's interests may overlap with some parties in the proceeding, the totality of RESA's interests are unique and not adequately represented by other parties because the outcome in this matter has broader ramifications for the competitive retail electric market in the DP&L service territory.

V. Conclusion

For these reasons, the Commission should grant the motion of RESA to intervene.

Respectfully submitted,
